Lefcourt reported to federal judge Damon J Keith in the Detroit case that his his residence had been broken into two time and his office three times before it was destroyed by arson in the spring of 1970. WxPost 11/11/73

Two of his lawyer associates, William J. Bender and William H. Goodman alleged under oath that the government broke into the files of Goddard College (in Vermont) and the Ann Arbor, Michigan offices of SDS and the Radical Education Project (REP). Goddard's president swore that stolen files were used in an FBI "wanted" poster. A number of other instances of the official stealing of the property of defendants were introduced into evidence. This included proofs I had obtained from one of my own confidential informants inside an extremist, violence-preaching ~~xxxxxxxxx~~ militant army of the right, a band not subjected this these kinds of official persecutions. ~~It~~ (It shared the ~~xx~~ official antipathy toward what it and officialdom consider "left.")
